war office that the Italian forces had penetrated Austria, occupying Caporet-to, the heights between the Judno and Ischno, and the towns of Cor-sons, Certerano and Terzo.No important clash.
London, May 25.—Active military and naval operations are now under way between Austria-Hungary and Italy, but land forces of any great strength have not as yet come into contact. Air and naval raids of minor character form the sum total of the first twenty-four hours of warfare between these former allies of the triple alliance.It is generally understood that Italy has arrived at an agreement with her new allies under the terms of which she will sign the existing treaty not to conclude a separate peace.Austria Port Raided.
Rome, May 24, via Paris, May 25.— The following official statement was issued tonight by the Italian general staff:"An Italian destroyer entered the port of Buzo, near the Austrian frontier, and destroyed its landing stages, the railroad station and barracks, as well as all motor boats in the harbor.
The destroyer was not damaged and none of the crew was injured. Two of the enemy were killed and we took 47 prisoners, including an officer and fifteen non-commissioned officers, who were brought to Venice.According to supplementary information received here, two enemy aéroplanes which appeared over Venice this morning dropped eleven bombs without causing serious damage. The fire from our defense put them to flight. The damage to the railroad was caused by an attack of a warship and aeroplane in the early hours of the morning."

Teuton Ambassadors Leave.

Baron Von Macchio, Austrian ambassador to Italy, and Prince von Schoenburg-Hartenstein, ambassador to the Vatican, with their staffs, left for Vienna aboard a special train at eight o'clock tonight. They were accompanied by the railroad station commandant, Count Vignola, Spanish ambassador to the Vatican. There was a large crowd at the station, but no demonstrations.
Prince von Buelow, the German ambassador, with Princess von Buelow, the German minister to the Vatican and her staff, left for Berlin at 9:30 o'clock. They were followed fifteen minutes later by the Bavarian minister to the Quirinale and the Vatican and their staff.

Macchio, German and Austrian ambassadors to Italy, who left Rome last night, reached Chasso, Switzerland, were received by the Swiss authorities.

Italian Ambassador Leaves.

London, May 25.—An Amsterdam dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company, says that Riccardo Bolatti, Italian ambassador to Germany, left Berlin with his staff this morning.
He was driven to the railroad station through less frequented streets.

Diplomatic Arrangements.

Bern, Switzerland, via Paris, May 25.—The Swiss government has announced that it will represent the interest at Rome of the German empire and Bavaria, and the interest of Austrian-Hungary will be represented by Spain.

of marine makes this announcement:
"A steamer arriving at Barletta reports that while passing near the cometory of Gargano at midnight last night she sighted an Austrian warship with a heavy list. She was escorted by four torpedo boats.This probably was the warship which was driven off from Barletta after having fired several shots."

Americans Safe at Venice.

Washington, May 25.—American Consul Carroll at Venice cabled the state department today that no Americans were injured yesterday when German and Austrian aeroplanes dropped bombs on the city. One aéroplane flew directly over the consulate

SENDS KING VICTOR WISHES OF SUCCESSRaymond Poincaré, on a Visit to French Troops in Lorraine, Telegraphs Greeting to Italian Monarch.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Paris, May 25.—Raymond Poincaré, president of the French republic, paying a visit to the armies in Lorraine and Vosges, sent to the king of Italy the following telegram:
"At this solemn hour when Italy enters upon the glorious path marked by her destined allies, France is glad to think that two sister nations are going to fight once more for the defense of their common civilization and for the freedom of suppressed people. Already brought nearer together by their relations, by their transitions and by their immortal force of a Latin genius, Italy and France will be united forever by this new fraternity of souls and by this reflected consecration of their relations."I express to your majesty my most ardent wish for the victory of your valiant troops. With these soldiers the allied army are proud to fight to put an end to the enemies of justice and liberty.
I wish noble Italy a successful realization of her national aspirations, and I beg your majesty to accept these assurances of my devoted friendship."RETURN THOUSANDS OF WOUNDED TURKSConstantinople Crowded With Wounded Soldiers Sent Back From Dardanelles.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Athens, via London, May 25.—Advices reaching here from Constantinople by mail describe the arrival at the Turkish capital of thousands of wounded from the Dardanelles, where the first Turkish army corps, composed of the best fighting men in the country, is engaged. In Constantinople there is a shortage of petroleum, wood and coal. Bread also is lacking and at bakeries people must take their turn.When American Ambassador Mofganthau protested to the Turkish authorities against sending fifty British and French subjects to be placed on the fortifications to stop the bombardment of the allies, Enver Bey replied he must do something, as the arrival of the Turkish wounded from the straits was creating deep impressions. The ambassador's efforts, coupled with the British threats to hold Enver Bey personally responsible resulted in the return of these men to Constantinople within a week.
They were accompanied by Gallipoli by Hoffman Philip, secretary of the American embassy.The collier Vulcan, which has been coasting the American cruiser Tennessee, is expected shortly at Zangazhar from Beirut, bringing the unit of the American Red Cross society proceeding to Constantinople.HAVE PETITION FOR Italy pins her faith on heavier than as to her present actual air strength, which has been considerably in-European war. One of her finest dirigibles is the Ville de Milan, which is 234 feet long and 60 feet in

MAY BE ACCEPTABLE TO UNITED STATESReported in German Circles at Washington That Reply on Lusitania Tragedy Will Satisfy Demands.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, May 25.—President Wilson told callers today he did not know the cause for the delay of the German reply to the American notes on the Lusitania, but he presumed the German government was for the moment absorbed in the circumstances arising out of Italy's entrance into the war.While Ambassador Gerard has sent several messages bearing on what the German reply may be, no direct information has been received concerning its contents and the American government is really uninformed.The German embassy here, however, has made suggestions to the German foreign office for the reply, and in German circles it is said the note will be of a character to satisfy American public opinion.

Expect Reply Saturday.

London, May 25.—The following dispatch was received by the Exchange Telegraph company:
"The German government has asked the American government for a delay of a week in replying to the sinking of the Lusitania. In all probability the note will be delivered at Washington on Saturday."
"It is said in Berlin that the note will be couched in very friendly terms. On account of the recent Italian complications, feeling in Berlin regarding the United States is much more calm. German submarines are to be instructed according to this policy, although the note explains that the principle, the Germans cannot openly stop submarine warfare."WILSON STANDS PAT ON MEXICAN POLICYOccurrences of Past Month Has Led President to Contemplate No Course From His Watchful Waiting.Washington, May 25.—President Wilson does not contemplate any change of Mexican policy as a result of the report by Duval West, his special commissioner, who recently returned from an investigation. The president told callers today that Mr.
West did not suggest an embargo on export of war munitions from the United States into Mexico.Mr. West is understood to have reported pessimistically to the ability of the various factions, pointing out that none seemed to have the element requisite to dominate the country and bring peace.As he impressed the Mexican leaders with the necessity for safeguarding the lives of foreigners and their interests, and the Washington government within the last month has been able to secure protection for foreign interests, the disposition of high officials now is to allow the situation between the factions develop further before putting into effect any change in policy.GREEN BAY REVIVAL

Green Bay, May 25.—Hart and Maggann, the evangelists, are drawing tremendous crowds into the tabernacle, built especially for this campaign by all of the leading protestant churches of the city, and converts number up to one hundred or more each night.
The total attendance in the eight days was over 22,000.The meetings will be continued five weeks and it is predicted Green Bay is to experience the greatest religious revival it ever had. Last night hundreds of people were unable to get in

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Paris, May 25.—The French war office reports:
"It was a night of considerable activity between the sea and Arras. In Belgium following a violent bombardment a German attacking column endeavored to gain footing on the highway between Langemark and Ypres.
It was definitely checked."The Germans delivered two attacks yesterday to the north of Abtain. In each case they were repulsed. To the north of Neville they delivered four attacks each of which was checked by fire of our artillery."

Signs of Check in East.

London, May 25.—On the eastern frontier signs of a check to what at one time seemed an overwhelming Austro-German offensive movement are becoming more and more apparent even the flying wedge driven into the Russian center along the river San, has been compelled to give some ground by the energetic counter attacks of the Russians.
In the west General French reports that the Germans by the use of gases succeeded in penetrating the British lines at two points, but he claims that some of the trenches lost as a result of the fighting were regained in the subsequent fighting. The contest is still raging.

New Cabinet Forming.

Domestic politics continue to absorb the attention of England. The membership of the new cabinet has not yet been announced. This delay, according to the Manchester Guardian, a ministerialist organ, is due to the inability of the cabinet as representing their numerical strength in the house of commons. A clean sweep is looked for in the admiralty where it is expected that the Fisher, as well as Winston Churchill will go.

Bern, Switzerland, May 25.—The Swiss federal authorities have decidto Germany on the sinking of the Lusitania, by a German submarine as the result of which three Swiss citizens lost their lives.The government is waiting the knowledge of the German govern-so as to better be able to choose a wise course of procedure.The Swiss think well of President Wilson's note, but to most newspapers it appears to be hardly strong representation will have great weight because behind them will be the Swiss army of half a million men.THE LUSITANIA AFFAIR

Hayes, who arrived here from Copenhagen on the steamship United States, today had with him a sealed canvas pouch bearing the stamp of the Russian government and addressed to the Russian ambassador at Washington.
Mr. Hayes said he learned that the Russian merchants and manufacturers are favorably inclined toward extending their trade to the United States instead of Germany during the war. The loyalty and efficiency of the Russian troops was lauded by Mr.
Hayes. He blames insufficient railway

IN SEVERAL TRIPS TO TROUBLED PARTSOzar Makes Remarkable Series of Journeys in a Democratic Effort to Gain Confidence of People.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Odessa, Russia, May 25.—The Emperor's trip to Southern Russia, the latest of the remarkable series of journeys which the Russian ruler has been making into various parts of his vast empire, in a democratic effort to get closer to touch with his people, was a complete success.In Odessa his reception was tremendously enthusiastic, although the city is strongly Liberal and has never been noted for any perverted loyalty to the empire.The emperor drove through streets lined with cheering crowds. He wore a simple service uniform with the khaki-colored blouse of a Russian officer of ordinary rank. He rode in an automobile, attended by a single aide.
During his progress across the city he threw eloquent and tradition to the winds and stood up in his car, hat in hand, bowing and smiling to the cheering crowds.In a central square the emperor stepped out of his automobile and inspected the local troops. It was a perfunctory ceremony. At a brisk pace he walked along the entire front, stopping now and then to exchange a word with one of the privates. Then he walked back thoughtfully to the center of the line and made a brief extempore speech. It was without oratorical flourish, simply worded and matter-of-fact in delivery, but wonderfully effective. He reviewed the history of the war, reminded the men of Russia's glorious past and the emperor's splendid deeds of the past."Do as you brothers have done," he said in closing. "Do as they have done on the battlefields of East Prussia, Galicia and Bukovina. God will watch over you, and Russia will remember you."There was absolute silence for a full minute after he had finished. Then the silence was broken by the crash of a thunderous chorus of "Long live the Little Father!"During his visit the emperor had an opportunity to show his mastery of English. The British consul-general, accompanied by a delegation of English residents, presented their congratulatory address on behalf of England's admiration and appreciation of the Russian army's work. The emperor replied in English:"I thank you sincerely for what you have said. We do not forget how much has been done in Russia owing to the English and French. We are now on the high road to victory, and with the aid of our allies, the common cause shall speedily triumph."Some idea of the manner in which the emperor's trips through the country aim to reach the workmen and common people may be gained from an account of his visit to the Bransk factory at Bialystok. The whole working population, numbering nearly 40, 000, turned out to meet him, and a delegation consisting of workmen who had been in the factory for twenty years presented him with bread and salt, the traditional emblems of hospitality.The emperor spent four hours in the factory, going through all the workshops and carefully inspecting the progress of the work. Later he visited the workers' quarters, where he visited several houses and talking with the men's families.MEXICAN EDUCATORS witness stated only a few weeks before the battle of Ypres that the allies had established a superiority in the respect over the enemy. The situa-

Washington, May 25.—A neutrality proclamation by the United States covering the entry of Italy into the European war was published today by the state department under date of May 24.President Wilson said today he had not considered calling an extra session of congress.The proclamation cautions American citizens that the "laws and treaties of the United States without interfering with the free expression of opinion and sympathy or with the commercial manufacture and sale of arms and munitions of war; nevertheless impose upon all persons who may be within their territory and jurisdiction the duty of impartial neutrality during the existence of the contest."As was the case in the other neutrality proclamations issued during the present war, the laws of the United States forbidding recruiting for the belligerents in its country or entering out of war vessels are reacted, and also the laws governing belligerent warships entering American ports.
The proclamation of the United States, it is declared, "will be denied to such American citizens as may misconduct themselves in the premises."CHINA-JAP TREATY

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Milwaukee, Wis., May 25.—The Eu-much powder that Americans will have to cut down on their Fourth of July celebrations.That is indicated by the report of Lyman H. Browne, chairman of the Fourth commission, who is also chairman of the fireworks committee.

He said the cost of fireworks had already gone up twenty per cent. A large percentage of the powder manufactured in this country is being used on the European battlefields, and to add to its scarcity some of the ingredients employed in certain explosives have in the past been imported from Europe. These, of course, are now cut off.The contest for the new program contest will close June 10.RATE COMMISSION DISMISSES

'PHONE COMPANY'S COMPLAINT

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., May 25.—The railroad commission has dismissed the complaint of the Wonevone Telephone company against the La Valle Telephone company for an infringement on their service within the town limits in which the Wonevone company operates. The decision shows that the La Valle company had extended its service to one farmer in one town, and that another farmer lived across the road in the town of Summit, Juneau county, and that the La Valle company gave him service. The commission dismisses the complaint of the Wonevone company asking that the service be withdrawn.

arrested on charges of being drunk and driving. The latter was arrested on Main street, when the justice officer started with Preston to the station. Smith went along too, and so insistence was made that he was locked up with his brother. A court, Preston was first called before the justice to beach and pleaded guilty, receiving as his punishment a five dollar fine or guilty, but when the court found out the circumstances, and who arrested him, his case was dismissed.
Henry Imbush pleaded not guilty to being intoxicated at the Chicago and Northwestern railroad station, and his trial was set for four o'clock this afternoon. The court set bail at seventy-five dollars. William Corne pleaded guilty to being intoxicated at the same station and was fined five dollars and seven days. The justice court that inebriated made allegations that Corne attempted to "lift his purse" and Chief Chapman decided the way to settle the matter was to bring both before the court.

at the same time are full of nourish-doughnuts and has succeeded in producing a species which is delicious, wholesome and economical. She stud-she found them favorites with most people, and yet they were considered indigestible. She makes no secret of These lectures and cookery lessons at Myers Theatre are to be entirely free. Miss Peet calls her course a "Better Foods Better Homes" course, and shows quite conclusively, in all of her lectures, that the backbone of the nation is the kitchen, that better better citizens. A recognized author-topics, Miss Peet is endorsed by do-

She has new and practical ideas to offer along every line of housekeeping

What the Canal Means to the Army and Navy

Sailors from U.S. Battleships at the Gatun Locks

Copyright, 1915, by The International Student.

How the Canal With Its Splendid Fortifications Will Become a Naval Base and Military Reservation -- Inestimable Value In Case of War.

At this time war and the preparedness of a nation for war are the expected topics of discussion. Differences of opinion exist and these cause a great diversity of judgment as to the wisdom of the saying "In time of peace prepare for war."

The United States has a long sea coast both on its Atlantic and Pacific borders, and with its increasing international trade, the upbuilding of its merchant marine and its growing importance as a world power, it must be in a position to take its proper rank as a military and naval power. Its sea coast must be adequately protected and its fleet is likely to be scattered in both oceans. But, necessarily, urgent necessities may require a rapid mobilization of its navy on one sea coast or the other and the Panama Canal will be an important factor to that end.

Fortifications Planned. When the Canal was nearing completion the question of fortifications arose, and Congress talked for days over that question and the pros and cons from every point of view were threshed out. One side contended that to fortify the Canal would be a violation of the Hay-Pauncefote Treaty.

OLD TIME MINSTREL MAN VISITED CITY

William Franklin Riley Greeted Old Friends in City and Arranged for Production of Sheehan Opera Company.

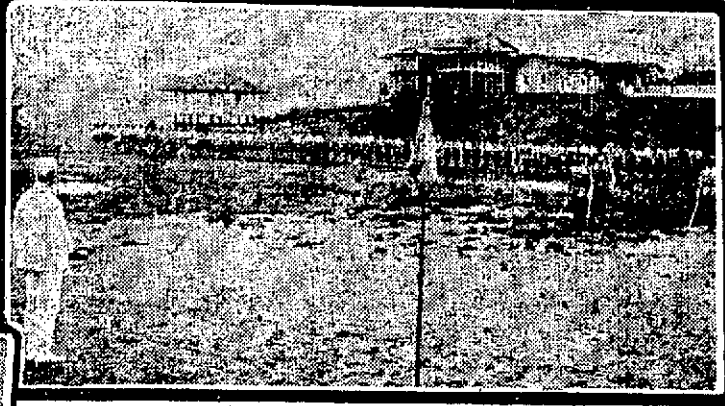

William Franklin Riley, personal representative of the Sheehan Opera Company, and an old-time minstrel man, in the days when Haverly was one of the big producers of this country, visited friends in Jamesville and incidentally completed arrangements for the appearance here on Sunday evening next of the Sheehan Opera Company at the Myers theatre. Mr. Sheehan has visited Jamesville many times since his minstrel days and delights in meeting his old friends. On this visit he expressed himself as much pleased with the prospects for a good attendance at the Sheehan production. The advance sale of seats has exceeded all expectations and from present indications, the coming of the Sheehan Opera Company in Cleopatra and Cavalleria Rusticana will prove the most brilliant social event of the theatrical season. Not only from this city, but from every nearby town orders are coming and the probabilities are that hundreds of late comers will be unable to secure seats. Mr. Riley is very enthusiastic about the Sheehan Opera Company this season. Cleopatra has proven a wonderful hit and Cavalleria Rusticana is beautifully done, all previous efforts having been eclipsed; the company is much larger and better in every respect. The principals include the foremost artists on the operatic stage. That the public appreciates this fact and recognizes from the list of stars many artists from the full houses which have greeted the company everywhere since the tour has begun. Invariably the house is sold out for days in advance and requests for return dates have been so insistent and so numerous that Mr. Riley is now making plans to give return engagements in those cities which make the best sewing.

General G. W. Goetzler Reviewing the U.S. Marines at Camp Elliott, Panama

Guns of this Type will be Mounted at Each End of the Canal

They declared that the United States was under a solemn obligation to recognize the principles of neutrality as applied at Suex and cited the express terms of the Hay-Pauncefote Treaty as evidence of their contention. Those who favored the fortification project asserted that the Canal zone belonged to the United States and that our Government had a perfect right to set up a defense of our own territory; also that by failing to fortify the place we would lose the military advantages for which the Canal had been constructed. Just what diplomatic pressure was brought to bear on England has not been given out; however, that country waived its rights in demanding a neutral canal and the fortification bill passed.

The great forts, when completed, will make the Panama Canal the American Gibraltar. It will become a naval base of the greatest value, for here our ships may coal and repair, for great coal storage basins, machine shops and dry docks are being built. In time, with its splendid fortifications at each end, the Canal will become of the greatest importance from a strategic point of view and will become the center of operations of our fleets of the East and West and the sole gateway between the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans. The great importance of maintaining a naval base there can be readily understood when one considers the present war, which has proved beyond all doubt that the strength of nations rests upon a military basis.

Another thing of value especially in time of war is the navy control of the big radio station now nearly completed at Darien in the Canal Zone. It was built under the direction of the Bureau of Yards and Docks, while the installation of the operating equipment was performed by the Bureau of Steam Engineering.

The aerial of the Darien station will be attached to the tops of three steel towers, each six hundred feet in height. The towers of the other two stations at Balboa and Colon are about three hundred feet high. These stations will be used to transmit messages to and from vessels in the adjacent canal waters and within a radius of about three hundred miles from the Canal. The equipment of the Darien station is second to none in the world.

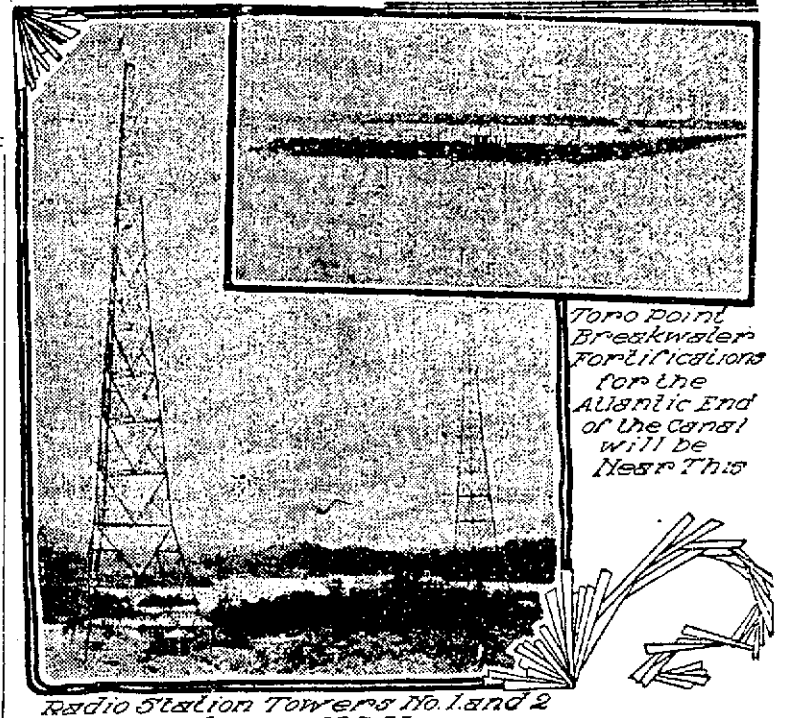

It will be capable of communicating with points at a distance of three thousand miles. It is so near completion that before this story goes to print it is very likely that Darien may talk with Washington.

About fifteen thousand troops will be stationed on the Zone. At present they include the Fifth, Tenth and Twenty-Ninth Infantry and several companies of Coast Artillery. The majority of them will be stationed at Miraflores where quarters and barracks are being erected at the cost of $3,000,000.

Biggest Gun Ever Made For This Country.

As to the fortifications, they will be practically impregnable. They consist of large forts at each end of the Canal with fields for thousands of mobile troops. The Pacific Coast defense will be somewhat stronger than that on the Atlantic side and have been erected on both sides of the channel. They consist of one sixteen-inch gun, six fourteen-inch guns, six six-inch guns and eight four-and-seven-inch howitzers. The sixteen-inch gun shown in the accompanying photograph, made while it was on its way from the Watervliet arsenal, is the largest ever built for this country. It will be mounted on Perico Island, one of the three islands which rise precipitously out of the water on the east side of the Pacific Coast entrance. Naos Island is connected by a breakwater to the mainland, while Perico and Flamenco are connected with Naos by a stone causeway. Perico is an ideal site for heavy defense, and when this gun rests upon the top it is very doubtful whether the warship of any nation would attempt to enter the Canal, for a single shell from this terrible engine of destruction would put any battleship yet built out of commission. The gun can hurl its projectile weighing more than a ton a distance of twenty-one miles and do what seems almost incredible—hit a target with accuracy at a distance of seventeen miles. The shells are filled with high power explosive, and it makes one shudder to think of the destruction they could cause. All the guns are mounted on disappearing carriages so they are exposed only for a moment when firing.

On the Atlantic side of the Canal the defense consists of four twelve-inch guns, sixteen twelve-inch mortars, six six-inch guns and four four and seven-tenths-inch howitzers. These guns will be divided between Toro Point on the west side of the channel and Margarita Island on the east side. They will be so arranged as to sweep the entire channel toward the entrance from the Atlantic. The mortars are designed for use against the enemy both on land and sea, for in case of a hostile force coming overland they could be loaded with

Radio Station Towers No. 1 and 2 Controlled by the U.S. Navy

Toro Point Breakwater Fortification for the Atlantic End of the Canal will be Near This shrapnel and fired at a distance of four miles. The howitzers could be used to protect the locks or moved from place to place whenever they were needed. Eight of these will be permanently stationed at Gatun.

$2,000,000 Of Ammunition.

About $2,000,000 worth of ammunition will be kept at the Canal at all times, for Uncle Sam does not intend to be caught napping with an empty powder house. This includes at least seventy rounds for the big gun on Perico Island. Some idea of the amount of smokeless powder used can be understood from the fact that the fourteen hundred pound projectile fired from a fourteen-inch gun requires a charge of over three hundred pounds of smokeless powder to propel it through the air. Every time a gun of this type is fired it costs the Government $700.

The land about the sea level ends of the Canal will be platted off just like city squares, and should an enemy's troops come into any one of these squares the mortars can be so turned as to hurl their deadly missiles upon the very square they are occupying.

In order that there shall be no surprise attack, the fortifications will be equipped with fourteen searchlights, each using a sixty-inch reflector. These lights, which cost $20,000, will sweep the sea and land as far as gun range. The electricity used for operating these as well as the big guns will be generated at each fort.

Named In Honor Of Generals.

The fortifications at each end of the Canal have been named in honor of some of our great generals. For instance, the fort at Toro Point is named in honor of General William T. Sherman, and the one on Margarita Island in memory of General W. F. Randolph. The battery at Manzanillo, Point Colon, is called Fort DeLesseps, so named to perpetuate the memory of Count De Lesseps, while the three great forts on the islands of the Pacific have received the name of Grant in honor of that valiant hero of the Civil War. At Balboa the battery has received the name of Amador, so called to honor the first President of the Republic of Panama. The batteries of the different forts and the army posts along the Canal have also been named after our military heroes.

The most recent post to be occupied by the Twenty-Ninth Infantry has been given the name of "Camp Gaillard" in memory of the late Lieutenant-Colonel D. D. Gaillard, who died in 1913—a well deserved honor for the man who gave his life for his work. Colonel Gaillard was a member of the Canal Commission and was in charge of the Central Division from 1907 until his death.

All this description of the fortifications and plans in case of war may seem out of order at this time when the American nation are praying for peace, but even the most peace loving citizen knows that a big army with plenty of fortifications and a big navy with gunners who know how to shoot are comfortable things to have around even though they may not be needed. The Panama Canal is a military necessity as well as a commercial one.

He wrote: "Your medicine has relieved me of about three hundred accretions and I have not passed any more since taking the last dose. I have not lost an hour of work since. I have recommended your wonderful remedy to several of my friends and will recommend it to all who suffer as I did. Mayr's Wonderful Remedy gives permanent results for stomach, liver and intestinal ailments. Eat as much and whatever you like. No more distress after eating, pressure of gas in the stomach and around the heart. Get one bottle of your druggist now and try it on an absolute guarantee. If not satisfactory money will be returned.

A FOOL AND HIS MONEY

By GEORGE BARR M'CUTCHEON, Author of "Graustark," "Truxton King," Etc.

Copyright, 1915, by George Barr M'CUTCHEON.

My high resolve flattened itself out a little after the sound sleep I had, and I make no doubt I should have wavered sadly in my purpose had not a crisis arisen to shape my courage for me in a rather emphatic way. Shortly after breakfast Mrs. Titus came downstairs very smartly gowned for the street. She announced that she was going into the town for an hour or two and asked me to have one of the Schmicks ferry her across the river. There was a famous antique shop there—memory of other days—and she wanted to browse awhile in search of bronzes and bronzes.

I looked at her aghast. I recognized the crisis, but for a moment was unable to marshal my powers of resistance. Noting my consternation, she calmly assured me that there wouldn't be the least danger of detection, as she was going to be heavily veiled and very cautious.

"My dear Mrs. Titus," I murmured in my dismay, "it isn't to be considered. I am sure you won't persist in this when I tell you that Tarnowsky's agents are sure to see you and—"

She laughed. "Tarnowsky's agents? Why should they be here?" "They seem to be everywhere."

"I can assure you there is none within fifty miles of Schloss Rothboefen. Our men are in the city. Four of them preceded me. This morning I had Mr. Bangs telephone to the hotel where the chief operative is staying—in the guise of an American tourist, and he does it very cleverly for an Englishman too—and he assures me that there is absolutely no danger. Even Mr. Bangs is satisfied."

"I am forced to say that I am by no means satisfied that it is a safe or wise thing to do, Mrs. Titus," I said, with more firmness than I thought I possessed.

She raised her delicate eyebrows in a most exasperating, well-bred, admiring way.

"I am quite sure, Mr. Smart, that Dillingham is a perfectly trustworthy detective, and—"

"But why take the slightest risk?" "It is necessary for me to see Dillingham, that is the long and short of it," she said coldly. "One can't discuss things over a telephone, you know. Mr. Bangs understands. And, by the way, Mr. Smart, I have taken the liberty of calling up the central office of the telephone company to ask if they can run an extension wire to my dressing room. I hope you do not mind."

"Not in the least. I should have thought of it myself."

"You have so much to think of, poor man! And now will you be good enough to have Hawkes order the man to row me across the river."

"I am very sorry, Mrs. Titus," said I firmly, "but I fear I must decline myself. I cannot permit you to go into the town today."

She was thunderstruck. "Are you in earnest?" she cried after searching my face rather intently for a moment.

"Unhappily, yes. Will you let me explain?"

"The ideal," she exclaimed as she drew herself to her full height and withered me with a look of surpassing scorn. "Am I to regard myself as a prisoner, Mr. Smart?"

"Oh, I beg of you, Mrs. Titus"—I began miserably.

"Mrs. Titus doesn't seem to realize the risk she runs in—"

"Risk? Do you suppose, Mr. Smart, I would jeopardize my daughter?"

"What's up?" repeated Collingraft insistently.

"Mr. Smart calmly informs me that I am not to go into the city."

"I don't see that Mr. Smart has anything to say about it," said her son coldly. "If he"—He paused, glaring at me squarely in the eye. If he had possessed the acumen of a pollywog he would have seen that my Dutch was up.

"One moment, Mr. Titus," I said setting my jaw. "I have this to say about it. You are guests in my house. We are jointly interested in the effort to protect the Countess Tarnowsky. I consider it to be the height of imprudence for any member of your family to venture into the city now or at any time during her stay in this castle. I happen to know that Tarnowsky is having me watched for some purpose or other. I don't think he suspects that the countess is here, but I greatly fear that he believes I am interested in her cause. He suspects me. You have heard of our recent encounter. He knows my position pretty well by this time. Mrs. Titus says that the man Dillingham assures her there is no danger. Well, I can only say that Dillingham is a fool, and I don't purpose having my own safety threatened by—"

"Your safety?" exclaimed he. "I like that! What have you got to be afraid of?"

"You seem to forget that I am harboring a fugitive from justice," I said flatly.

Mrs. Titus gasped. "How dare you!" "The Countess Tarnowsky is wanted by the authorities for kidnapping, and I think you know the facts quite as well as I do," I went on harshly. "God knows I am doing my best to protect her. I am risking more than you seem to appreciate. If she is found here my position isn't likely to be an enviable one. I am not thinking solely of myself, believe me, but after all I contend that I have a right to assert myself in a crisis that may affect me vitally. I trust you will see my position and act accordingly—with consideration if nothing else."

Mrs. Titus did not take her eyes off mine while I was speaking. There was an expression of utter amazement in them. No one had ever opposed her before in just this way. I gathered. She didn't know what to make of it.

"I fear you exaggerate the extent of your peril, Mr. Smart," she said dryly. "Of course I have no desire to put you in jeopardy, but it seems to me—"

"Leaving me out of the case altogether, don't you think it is a bit unfair to the countess?" I asked in some heat. "She doesn't want to go to jail."

"Jail?" she cried angrily. "That's no way to speak about"— began Collingraft furiously.

I broke in rashly. "If you please, Mr. Titus, be good enough to keep your temper. I have no desire to appear harsh and arbitrary, but I can see that it is necessary to speak plainly. There isn't anything in the world I will not do to help you and the countess in this unfortunate business. Mrs. Titus, I hope you believe me when I say as much. I am her friend. I want to be yours if you will let me. But I reserve the right to say what shall be and what shall not be done as long as you are under my roof. Just a moment, Mr. Titus! I think we are quite agreed that your sister is to depart from here on the 14th of the month. I am to be her escort, so to speak, for a considerable distance in company with Mr. Bangs. Well, it must be clearly understood that not one of you is to show his or her face outside these walls until after that journey is over. That's plain speaking, isn't it?"

"I beg to differ with you."

"You may beg till you're black in the face," said I coolly.

He swallowed hard. His face twitched, and his hands were clenched.

"You are pretty much of a mucker."

desperately in earnest, gave vent to a little cry of alarm and clutched her big son by the shoulder. She begged him to listen to reason.

"Reason?" he gasped.

"If you—or any of you—put a foot outside these walls," I declared, "you will not be allowed to re-enter. That's flat!"

"By cricky!" fell in fervent admiration from the lips of Jasper junior, I glanced at his beaming, astonished face. He positively was grinning.

"Good for you! You're a wonder, Mr. Smart. By cricky! And you're dead right! We're darn tools!"

"Jasper!" gasped Mrs. Titus.

"Good for you, Jasper!" I cried warmly and took the hand he proffered.

"Collingraft, please take me to my room," murmured the mother. "I feel faint. Send for Aline. Ask Mr. Bangs to come to me at once."

I bowed stiffly. "I am sorry, Mrs. Titus, to have been so harsh, so assertive."

She held up both hands. "I never was so spoken to in all my life, Mr. Smart. I shall not forget it to my dying day."

She walked away from me, her pretty head held high and her chin suspiciously aquiver. Collingraft hastened after her, but not without giving me a stare in which rage and wonder struggled for the mastery.

I ran my hand over my moist brow.

"Gee!" said Jasper junior. "You've corked her all right, all right." He followed me into the study, and I couldn't get rid of him for hours.

CHAPTER XXI. I Have a Tilt With Collingraft.

LATER in the forenoon the countess, with a queer little smile on her lips, told me that her mother considered me the most wonderful, the most powerful character she had ever encountered. I brightened up at that.

But Collingraft was not yet through with me. He sought me out just before luncheon. I was in the courtyard, listening patiently to Jasper junior's theories and suggestions concerning the restoration of the entire facade of the castle and what he'd do if he were in my place. Strange to say, I was considerably entertained; he was not at all offensive. On the contrary, he offered his ideas in a pleasantly ingenious way, always supplementing them with some such salve as "Don't you think so, Mr. Smart?" or "I'm sure you have thought of it yourself," or "Isn't that your idea too?" or "You've done wonders with the joint, old man."

Collingraft came directly up to where we were standing.

"See here, Mr. Smart," he began audaciously. "I've got something to say to you, and I'm not the sort to put it off. I appreciate what you've done for Aline and all that sort of thing, but your manner today has been intolerable, and we've got to come to an understanding."

I eyed him closely. "I suppose you're about to suggest that one or the other of us must evacuate—get out, so to speak," I said.

"Don't talk rubbish. You've got my mother bawling her eyes out upstairs and wishing she were dead. You've got to come off this high horse of yours. You've got to apologize to her, and quick at that. Understand?"

"Nothing will give me greater joy than to offer her my most abject apology, Mr. Titus, unless it would be her unqualified forgiveness."

"You'll have to withdraw everything you said."

"I'll withdraw everything except my ultimatum in respect to her putting a foot outside these walls. That still stands."

"I beg to differ with you."

"You may beg till you're black in the face," said I coolly.

He swallowed hard. His face twitched, and his hands were clenched.

Mr. Smart," he said between his teeth. "I'm sorry my sister has fallen into your hands. The worst of it is she seems satisfied with everything you do. Good Lord, what she can see in you is beyond comprehension! Protection!—Why, you couldn't protect her from the assault of a chicken!"

"Are you trying to insult me, Mr. Titus?"

"You couldn't resent it if I were. There never was an author with enough moral backbone to—"

"Wait! You are her brother. I don't want to have trouble with you. But if you keep on in this strain, Mr. Titus, I shall be compelled to thrash you soundly."

He fairly gasped. "Th—thrash me!" he choked out. Then he advanced.

Much to my surprise—and, strangely enough, not to my own—I failed to retreat. Instead I extended my left fist with considerable abruptness and precision, and he landed on his back.

I experienced a sensation of unholy joy. Up to that moment I had wondered whether I could do it with my left hand.

I looked at Jasper junior. He was staring at me in utter bewilderment.

"Good Lord, you—you've knocked him down!"

"I didn't think I could do it," said I lazily.

He sprang to his brother's side and assisted him to a sitting posture.

"Right to the jaw," shouted Jasper, with a strange enthusiasm.

"Left," I corrected him.

Collingraft gazed about him in a stupid, vacant fashion for a moment, and then allowed his glazed eyes to rest upon me. He sat rather limply. I thought.

"Are you hurt, Colly?" cried Jasper junior.

A sickly grin, more of surprise than shame, stole over Collingraft's face. He put his hand to his jaw, then to the back of his head.

"By Jove!" he murmured. "I—I didn't think he had it in him. Let me get up!"

Jasper junior was discreet. "Better let well enough alone, old—"

"I intend to," said Collingraft as he struggled to his feet.

For a moment he faced me uncertainly.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Titus," said I calmly. "You—you are a wonder!" fell from his lips. "I'm not a coward, Mr. Smart. I've boxed a good deal in my time, but by Jove, I never had a jolt like that!"

He turned abruptly and left us. We followed him slowly toward the steps. At the bottom he stopped and faced me again.

"You're a better man than I thought," he said. "If you'll bury the hatchet, so will I. I take back what I said to you because I'm afraid of you, but because I respect you. What say? Will you shake hands?"

The surly, arrogant expression was gone from his face. In its place was a puzzled, somewhat inquiring look.

Mrs. Finnegan kept a boarding house and one day young Johnson came to her with several complaints. She listened in silence for a few moments, but as the young man waxed eloquent she lost her patience.

"Don't I know every one of the tricks of your trade?" said Johnson, with considerable heat. "Do you think I have lived in boarding houses fifteen years for nothing?"

"Well," replied Mrs. Finnegan, icily, "I shouldn't be at all surprised."

Mose Johnson, an overgrown negro boy, applied to the foreman of a railroad construction gang for a job, and was instructed to switch to a certain track all dirt trains that came out of the cut. He let a long train of dump cars start by on the wrong track before he had thought himself and pulled the switch; the train was split in two and several of the cars were derailed. "Well, boss," he protested when rebuked, "I gun saved half de train, anyhow."

Proper Education. Let us teach our children that aggression is selfishness, and that selfishness is a menace to the individual, to the nation, to the world. Let us teach them, too, that holding back what we should give is only selfishness in another form, and that nations must be measured by the standards we apply to men. For nations are only men, after all.—Popular Educator.

SHOE POLISHES

SAYS PIERCE SPENT NO FUNDS OF LEAGUE

T. C. RICHMOND CLAIMS HOME RULE LEAGUE PRESIDENT ACTED WITHIN THE LAW.

WILL SUBMIT BRIEFS

Judge Fehlandt at Madison Gives Attorneys For Defense Ten Days To Prepare Statements On Motion.

T. C. Richmond, one of the attorneys defending Charles E. Pierce of this city in his motion to quash the indictment returned against him charging violation of the corrupt practices act in the losing argument before Judge Fehlandt at Madison challenged District Attorney Southworth to produce evidence which showed that Pierce has made any disbursement of funds of the home rule league for political purposes.

At the close of Mr. Richmond's address, Judge Fehlandt took the case under advisement and the attorneys for the defense were given ten days in which to file briefs. Mr. Southworth has already submitted his briefs. While the briefs are being prepared, Judge Fehlandt will consider the arguments of counsel which were taken down by the court reporter. In addition to Mr. Richmond, J. M. Clancy, John B. Sanborn and A. O. Oestreich represented Pierce.

At the opening of his remarks, Richmond declared that no one has ever considered the league as a criminal. He said the action was begun to test the validity of the corrupt practices act and that both sides are anxious to secure an early decision. The case will go to the supreme court of the state which side wins in the lower court.

The testimony before the grand jury shows that the amount of money contributed to the league from the time it was organized until the election was less than $2,000, declared Mr. Richmond. "As far as I know, no claim is made on the part of the state that we paid either directly or indirectly for this indictment. There is no syllable in the indictment that we violated the law by failing to file a statement. The only reason for the indictment of Mr. Pierce was that he contributed money to the league."

Mr. Richmond denied the statement of the district attorney that the league opposed the election of John J. Blaine, an independent "progressive" candidate for governor at the last election. He said Mr. Blaine became a candidate only a few weeks before election and that the league was organized long before that time. Mr. Richmond gave the following three reasons for organizing the league:

To secure for the people of Wisconsin lower taxes.

To reduce the number of state commissions.

To restore to the people of the state a larger measure of local self-government.

He reiterated that the records of the league are all, even to the so-called progressives.

Mr. Richmond contended that on the whole the corrupt practices act is a disservice to the state and to the people of Wisconsin. He argued that there is no decent man in Wisconsin who favors corrupt practices, but he declared that if the law would be still would be enough laws left to reach cases of corruption. According to Mr. Richmond, there is no man connected with the league who has asked for or wanted a public office or who desires to seek an office for any of his friends. He maintained that the patience of the people of the state has been sorely tried for many years.

In conclusion, Mr. Richmond spoke highly of Mr. Pierce who, he said, is an honored and respected member of the bar association and a respectable citizen of Janesville.

TURKS CLAIM OVER MILLION MEN READY

Turkish Ministry of War Gives Report of Strength of Army—Germany in Command of Forces.

Bucharest, May 25.—The Turkish Ministry of War places the total of men under arms at present at 1,322,000.

More conservative estimates in Constantinople give the number as about 800,000. This includes 300,000 Christians, who are being used for digging trenches and building railways, roads and bridges.

The actual fighting men are divided into five armies. The first army is at Adrianople and around Constantinople under von der Goltz, is said to be about 100,000 strong. The second army, under Pasha, is at Egypt, with 150,000 men. The third is located around Bagdad with 50,000. The fourth, in the Caucasus, numbers 180,000, while the fifth, estimated at something over 100,000, is operating in the vicinity of the Dardanelles.

Probably the best equipped troops are gathered around Constantinople, which is also admirably defended by concentric rings of up-to-date fortifications. An excellent battery has been placed in position immediately below the mosque of St. Sophia.

Although the Turkish army is operating under the command of military affairs, they make no attempt to meddle in civil affairs. The press is censored, for example, is under Turkish auspices, and correspondents, even from Germany, are handled ruthlessly. Thus the correspondents of the Cologne Zeitung and the Deutsche Armee Zeitung have been interned at Konia, the correspondent of the Neue Preussische Presse has been condemned to a year's imprisonment, and the representative of the Berlin Tageblatt has been expelled.

WRITES LETTER ON SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.

Fred Hutchinson, Jr., Tells of City and Its Beautiful Natural Scenery.

In a letter to the Gazette, Fred Hutchinson, Jr. of this city, describes most vividly the city of San Francisco and its natural scenery. The letter reads as follows:

San Francisco, Cal., May 18, 1915.

Editor Janesville Gazette.

Dear Sir:

Just a few lines from Frisco and the fair which may be interesting; at least I shall endeavor to make it so.

San Francisco, built like the ancient city of Rome, is built on seven principal hills. Chief amongst these are Telegraph Hill and Nob Hill. Nob Hill is the very exclusive society section of the city proper. On the summit of Nob Hill is the Fairmont Hotel, one of the most beautiful family hotels in the world. One gets a grand view from the top of the hill, looking west you see as far as the eye can reach, nothing but the ocean with now and then a ship either coming in from coast ports or going out to the Orient. Looking north across the Bay of San Francisco, you can see the beautiful mountains and valleys of Marin county and the little towns of Sausalito and Sausalito. Looking east you see first Richmond, then Berkeley, the home of the University of California, then Oakland and finally Alameda, the most exclusive and beautiful suburb of San Francisco. These towns are all within eighteen minutes' ride from the Ferry building and include a population of over a million people.

San Francisco has the finest harbor in all the world, the entrance to the harbor being a mile across and rightfully called the Golden Gate, and fully so, for in the evening the sun is sinking in the west it leaves a golden glow all over the west. The sunsets are marvelous here. The bay or harbor of San Francisco is 36 miles long and in San Francisco and it is said that it can harbor every ship in the world.

In the bay are two small islands. One is called Alcatraz island, which is the sailors' and soldiers' prison, so impenetrable is it that only one escape has been made from it. The other is called Gate island, and is used as a marine station and for signal work and experimental work along signal lines.

All boats land at the Ferry building, and from there one can get a car to any part of the city, and all come to the Ferry building. Market street is probably the most important street in San Francisco and on it are erected the largest and most prominent buildings. Chief among these are the Call building, the Chronicle building, the Examiner building, the Phelan building, the largest office building west of Chicago; the Flood building, the home of the Southern Pacific, and the Palace Hotel, one of the finest in America. Other principal streets are, Mission, Kearney, Montgomery, Howard, Fillmore, Van Ness avenue and Golden Gate avenue. In fact, all the streets are important streets in their different lines.

Probably one of the most talked of streets in the world is Pacific street. More generally known as the "Flower Coast." Here are found the dance halls and cafes, and on this street originate many of our latest fashions and fads. It is strictly a Bohemian street and is only lively at night. Another street, universally known, is Dupont street, the main street of the Chinese great China town. Here in about fourteen square blocks there are nearly sixty thousand Chinamen. It is a sight worth seeing.

San Francisco may rightfully be called the "Wonder City" for after two reverses by earthquakes, of which the last one, in 1906, was the worst, it has rebuilt itself into a greater city than ever and has built a fair at a cost of over $50 million. It is really wonderful when one sees this growth, so rapid, and yet so sound that it is called the "Frisco" is at last immune from earthquakes. However, I doubt it, for it was only Sunday that they had a good shake. I have heard many say that San Franciscans cannot eat their breakfast unless there is an earthquake.

The Panama Pacific Exposition is without a doubt the greatest World's Fair ever held. Here one sees perfection in architecture, art and in fact, in everything pertaining to science. The buildings are beautiful and as for the exhibits, it is useless for me to try and describe them. I am sending by this mail, a book dealing with the principal features to be seen here. One thing I am proud of, and that is our own Wisconsin building, which I think, and everyone thinks, is the best state building out here. It is pretty hard to get ahead of old Wisconsin at all.

There is only one Frisco they say, and now that the Panama Canal is opened, it is bound to be one of the largest cities in the world, for it will be the gateway and distributing center of Atlantic and Pacific trade.

But in closing let me say that as yet I have not been in any city that holds the fascination that the city of my birth does. Dear old Janesville looks good to me yet. To those that live there it seems maybe a little unattractive, yet I have never seen a more beautiful spot or prettier surroundings. California has its palm trees, its orange and fruit trees, and its gigantic red woods, and many other semi-tropical trees, but all of them together are not as pretty as our own maple trees of Wisconsin.

Naturally being born and raised in Janesville, and my father still there, I would be prejudiced in its favor, but still not only I, but many who have visited the city of Janesville have said that without an exception it is the prettiest town they have ever seen.

Trusting that Janesville is on the boom, and that it continues to be so, I must close. Besting to remain Yours very truly, Fred Hutchinson, Jr.

STRANGE FARM PRODUCTS EXHIBITED AT THE FAIR

San Francisco, May 25.—Historians today were interested in the queer crops from James Bellwood's farm in Virginia which were on exhibition at the Panama Pacific Exposition. The products of this farm included several scores of Indian flint arrowheads, a round shot fired from the guns of the Merimac, a three-inch soft nosed shell hurled by a Confederate cannon and imbedded in an oak tree, and several bayonets, sabres and bullets. Before George Washington was born Indians and settlers fought a battle on the site of Bellwood's farm, hence the arrowheads, and in 1864 the battle of Brewery's Bluff, waged there, caused the deposit of other missiles. Numerous skulls and bones were also turned up by Bellwood's plow, but these were buried again in deeper graves than the shallow trenches in which they first reposed.

COMMITTEE HEARINGS SCHEDULED FOR WEEK

Members of the Civil Service Organizations to Oppose Application of Merit Principle of Hambrecht Bill.

Madison, Wis., May 25.—Representatives of the civil service organizations of the state and prominent citizens interested in the application of the merit principle to the affairs of government have sent word to the senate committee on corporations that they desire to appear in opposition to the Hambrecht bill, which proposes to allow the appointing officer to make his selection from the entire eligible list. Under the present law only the three highest are considered by the appointing officer. Progressive senators charge that this bill in connection with the consolidation measures will clean out every office in the capitol. Assemblyman Hambrecht claims that by allowing a selection from the entire list the appointing officer will be able to find men of more practical experience. The bill will be given a hearing Wednesday afternoon by the senate committee on corporations.

The Baxter bill decreasing the barber's fee from $2 to $1 a year will be heard by the joint committee on finance tomorrow, and on Thursday the senate committee on state affairs will give a hearing to the Hodon bill, providing for the treatment of the insane.

The big fire rating bill of the session, prohibiting secret and unjust company agreements, will be heard tomorrow by the assembly committee on insurance and banking. The Doble bill repealing many of the statutes regulating fraternal and mutual benefit societies, which was the subject of hundreds of opposing petitions in the legislature last week, will be heard on Wednesday. The Cunningham bill to locate a site for a home for crippled and deformed children will be heard before the assembly state affairs committee Wednesday afternoon.

FORMER CHOIR BOYS TO ATTEND REUNION

Thirtieth Anniversary of Trinity Church Vested Choir Will Be Observed on Sunday Next.

On Sunday next occurs the 30th anniversary of Trinity Church Vested Choir. On Trinity Sunday, May 31, 1885, under Rev. Dr. Conover, then pastor of the parish, the vested choir sang for the first time. Since that time the parish has been without a vested choir, and one of the boys who began at that time has remained continuously choir-master for many years. The anniversary will be kept both by a special program of music at the 10:30 a. m. service next Sunday, and by a day night in the Guild hall by the parish under the auspices of some have been sent out to all the former choir boys, new men, still residing in the city, inviting them to the services on Sunday and the banquet and reunion on Monday.

The local parish claims to have had the first vested choir in the Episcopal church in America, as under the Rev. Dr. Durlin a choir was organized from the parish in 1807. The parish is in possession of a picture of that choir, dated 1807. During the year the choir was reorganized and was continued for a while, but later on was discontinued until reorganized as stated above.

FIFTY YEARS PEACE IS TO BE OBSERVED

Veterans of Civil and Spanish Wars to Unite in Grand Observances of Memorial Day Monday.

Members of W. H. Sargent Post No. 20, G. A. R., are planning on fitting observances of Memorial Day, which will fall this year on Monday, May 31, according to Governor Philipp's proclamation. A. E. Matheson will be the principal speaker of the day at the patriotic exercises to be held at the Myers Theatre during the afternoon. Other appropriate numbers are being arranged by S. C. Burnham and L. Hall, who have the program in charge.

During the morning, following the usual custom, the graves of the deceased soldiers will be decorated and salutes fired at both cemeteries.

Members of Harry L. Gifford Camp No. 23, U. S. W. V. will also enter into the ceremonies of the day with the Grand Army veterans. To make arrangements for Decoration Day, they will hold a special meeting tomorrow evening in their hall. All G. A. R. men have been invited to attend this session. Since this year marks the fiftieth anniversary of the declaration of peace between the north and the south, special significance attaches to the occasion.

STATION CALENDAR SHOWS RAINY DAYS

Two Officers Make Guesses on Number of Rainy Days in May and One More Day of Rain to Settle Dispute.

There is a large calendar at the police station, which is curiously marked with irregular crosses and dashes of a most mysterious character. Each morning, as the city hall visitor goes into the main room of the station, he looks at the calendar and expresses a laugh or a sigh. At twelve o'clock—exactly at midnight—the marks are usually recorded for they represent days in which it has rained.

In April, Asa Anderson, kindly offered to forecast the weather for any length of time and the police officers took stock in his ability to foretell the actions of the mercury. Between Night Desk Sergeant Charles Dickenson and Thomas Morrison, and there arose a friendly dispute as to how many days of May would be rainy and how many clear. Both declare they received advance information from Anderson and backed his weather forecast, with a small wager. Dickenson allowed that twenty-one days out of the thirty-one would be rainy and Morrison declared that the number of rainy days, and counting today's mark, there are just twenty of them with six remaining days. Officer Morrison is very pessimistic over the outcome, but hopes that today's rain will empty the big bucket at Medicine Hat until "it is all rained out." If he loses Morrison declares Anderson is due for a "calling."

The only protest made is that two weeks ago, it barely sprinkled at ten minutes to twelve at midnight, and after the midnight hour, ten minutes received credit for full two days of rain.

HOLLAND ONLY ROUTE FOR MAIL TO GERMANY

Postoffice Officials Here, With Italy at War, Say This the Only Means of Mail Intercourse.

Janesville postoffice officials have not yet received word to the effect that mail service between the United States and Germany has been cut off. Italy's plunge into the strife to a great extent will hinder intercourse between the outside world and Germany, but there still remains Holland as an avenue of communication. Turkey, Hungary, Austria and Luxembourg are practically in a similar position as Germany.

Mail heretofore meant for these countries has been routed via Naples, in Italy, on the Adriatic.

A New York dispatch states that yesterday announcement was made that deferred telegrams to and from Italy, or for transmission through Italy, are no longer admitted. Full rate messages, written in plain language, either English or French, are admitted, but will be subject to censor and only transmitted at the sender's risk.

COMMERCIAL LEAGUE ORGANIZES MONDAY

Five Teams Will Probably Be on Schedule—Meeting Was at Y. M. C. A. Last Evening.

The Commercial baseball league will be revived again this season from 1912, when it last was in existence. At a meeting of those interested, held last evening at the Y. M. C. A., ten representatives from five enterprises attended and announced their intention of placing teams in the field. The Parker Pen company, the Lewis Knitting company, the Rock River Cotton company, the Northwest and Milwaukee railroads and the Y. M. C. A. had representatives present. It is understood that both railroads will join and combine a team, calling it the railroad team.

George S. Parker of the Parker Pen company was chosen to act as president of the league for the coming summer, the secretary and treasurer to be chosen at a meeting to be held Friday night, when the various team captains and managers will meet to permanently organize the league.

A schedule committee composed of Claude Leak, chairman; Carl Little and Frank Osborn was appointed. The plan is to open the schedule on June 1 and have teams playing every Saturday and the odd team laying off.

DOG SEVERELY BITES NINE YEAR OLD BOY

Bull Dog Said to be Owned by William Saxby Inflicts Bad Wound on Harold Jaeke Last Evening.

While Harold Jaeke, aged nine years old, was playing in the public alley in the rear of the Taylor grocery store, about seven o'clock last evening, a large bull dog pounced upon the boy and inflicted a deep gash by biting the lad in the calf of his leg. The playmates of the Jaeke boy declared that the dog came from the steps leading to the residence of William Saxby and that there was no provocation for the attack.

The wound is a deep one and prompt medical attention prevented complications. Police last night show that the dog is not suffering from any malady and no serious results are anticipated from the wound. Complaint was made to the police, who declared that they were empowered to kill the animal without the owner's consent.

The victim was nine years old today.

MINISTER'S SLANDER CASE IN COURT TOMORROW MORNING

It is expected that the motion of Attorney Charles E. Pierce to dismiss the action against the Rev. E. C. Carton of Palmyra, will be made when the state case against Carton for alleged slander on the character of Rev. Leighton, will be re-opened in the municipal court Wednesday morning.

The motion will be made that the state has not introduced sufficient evidence to warrant the charges, and if upheld, the case will be dismissed. It is not known whether the defendant, Carton, will be present in response to the court order, and unless he appears, objections will be raised to the taking of further testimony.

divisions, the championship to be of thirty-two contestants and the other divisions of sixteen players each. The Tuesday scores rated from 65 to 80 in-Wednesday afternoon it will thence be possible to start on the championship

NEW YORK BOXING FANS SAY AHEARN HAS TITLE CLAIM

Gotham Fight Followers Put Exit on Clabby and McGorty as Championship Timber in Middleweight Class.

(By Hal Sheridan.)

New York, May 25.—One hour will clear up the middleweight boxing muddle, in the minds of New York fans. The battle needed to establish a recognized champion of that class will bring together Mike Gibbons, the St. Paul flash, and Young Ahearn, he who was formerly dubbed the "dancing master."

They are used to be considerable talk about Jimmy Clabby, E. J. McCoy, and some others mingling in the select circle at the top of the heap, but that is all past. Clabby recently came to New York and even conceded an opportunity of grabbing off any championship honors. As he had decisively beaten McGorty on several occasions, the latter fighter is also eliminated from the chances.

Clabby's showings left a distinctly bad odor in the nostrils of New York fight fans. The Hammond, Ind., boxer first tangled up with McCoy, the "joke" champion. He may have had a shade, but there was no little fighting done in the whole bout that very few fighters cared to give a verdict.
"No fight" was the unanimous opinion.

Howl Over Bout.

The westerner and his manager howled and howled. McCoy, they said, wouldn't fight and necessarily Clabby couldn't. It took two to make a fight, they said. So Clabby was given another chance. He was sent against hard hitting George Chip from Newcastle, Pa. After seven and a half rounds of it, referee Billy Reche stepped in and declared it no contest, stoppage. That ended Clabby's career in New York and no one here will ever seriously consider him for championship purposes.

Harry Pollack, figuring strongly on bringing Gibbons and Ahearn together this summer at his Brighton Beach A. C. This would be over the ten round, no decision route and considerable doubt exists that such an attack would bring out a clear cut winner. Gibbons is willing to take Ahearn on over either ten or twenty rounds. He once stopped Ahearn in four rounds of being able to do it again.
Ahearn has admittedly improved, however, since that first meeting, and Gibbons would meet an entirely new man.

Activity on Hudson.

All the boats housed along the upper Hudson river and also on the Harlem river are showing signs of activity. For some time, but row things are beginning to hum and hundreds of motor boats are riding quietly at their moorings waiting for the hot summer days.

A few sail boats are seen, but the canvas-covered boats are not as popular right in New York City as they are a little further up Long Island Sound, at Rye and other points where a good steady "blow" is always assured the sail boat owners.

Every year the water sport seems to grow in popularity. It is cleaner and cooler than automobiling and far less expensive. A few hundred dollars will purchase a fair boat and there is plenty of excitement as well as pleasure in the waters around New York.

Yacht Club Races.

Plans of the Harlem Yacht club promise one of the busiest seasons since the club was organized. This year's racing season opens on Decoration Day, when the annual regatta will be held. This is open to all boats up to and including class B. As this is the first big race of the season, a large entry list is expected.

On August 21 the club will hold a long distance race to Stratford Shoal and return, which will be open to cabin yachts in cruising trim, racing over seventeen feet and not over thirty-one feet.

SOX WALLOP YANKS; CUBS TRIM BRAVES

Chicago Americans Travel So Fast That Even Yanks Fail to Halt Them—Cubs Win Four—Straight From Champs.

Chicago, May 25.—Home runs by Fournier and Brief landed the seventh straight victory for the Chicago Sox, over the New York Yankees, yesterday, by the score of 5 to 4, putting the Sox with a firm hold on the series connected for four base drives and thanks to them, the Sox climbed higher.

Cy Pieh worked for seven rounds and then gave way to Mullen. The Sox went away off on the defense, making seven errors, but Red Russell tumbled good calibre ball for the Sox, and until the eighth it looked like Russell was going to get a bumping ball all over the lot. In the eighth, two hits, two boots, and a pass filled the sack, with two out. Cicotte was rushed to the mound and Weaver stopped off defeat by a spectacular stop of line drive, and caught Boone at second. Fournier let loose of his fourth wallop in the first, with Roth-on base, the result of a pass. The fifth Weaver scored after starting with a double. Brief scored his homerun in the seventh, when he was first up.

Cubs Win 9-1.

Boston, Mass. Bill James, star pitcher for the Boston Braves, was routed by the leading Cub, yesterday, when the Chicago boys tramped on him for seventeen hits which netted nine runs. The great Jim came through with four safe wallops and three of them were doubles, and Schulte made a homer in the first.
Larry Cheney lacked control and after a big start was yanked in the fourth and Pierce held the Braves thereafter.

They are mourning the loss of Alva Gipe in St. Paul. The Saints got Alva from the Giants and he going well for Mike Kelley. But he refused to enthrone over St. Paul. He sat around the ball park, moody and silent every day. Only to his roomie would he talk. He yearned to be back, with other California sons. The evening of the first pay-packed his grip and vanished. Home-sickness had overcome him and he is now enroute for his home in sunny California.

perior to his man that the bout was stopped in the sixth round.

Larry Doyle of the Giants was studying with sad concern the standing of the clubs. "Well, fellows," he remarked solemnly, "one thing is certain. We may never get up to where they are, but there are a couple of clubs up there that will be back where we are."

Big Ed Sweeney isn't catching the ball for the Yankees that he did in seasons past, and experts state he is Manager Herzog has heard unfavorable news about Pitcher Stanley Dougan, who was expected to join the Reds early in June. Dougan has just undergone an operation for appendicitis and may not be in condition to work at all this year. So, to make up for this, Herzog is angling for a fellow named Jaynos, a college wonder, from the A. and M. college in North Carolina. This lad is said to be a phenom. just about ready to explode.

Rumor has it that Manager Mc-Graw of the Giants has offered to turn Pitcher Paul Perritt back to the St. Louis Cardinals without asking a cent for him if they just will take Perritt's contract off his hands.

While there has been much talk about valuable talent being sacrificed under the twenty-one-player rule of the National league, the fact remains, practically every man released because of that rule passed out without any other club in either major putting in a claim. Of course, in the National all the clubs were up against the same proposition, but it does seem that in the American, with its greater limit, something might have been saved from the ash can.

Manager George Stallings says it wasn't because of any fears that Kauf would strengthen the Giants that he objected to him playing for McGraw. Stallings does not think much of Kauf as a ball player, having seen him in action and studied him closely. He says he is not a ready player and that he could not hit one time around against National league pitching.

"You can even win a pennant and still lose a barrel of money." That's what Joseph J. Lannin, the amiable owner of the Red Sox, says, and it's his reason for not wearing a perpetual smile at his excellent prospect of winning the American league flag. Lannin's Red Sox probably have the highest salaried payroll of any big league club. It is said that Lannin's salary roll last year well exceeded the $100,000 mark, and this year's amount won't be much less.

To get this money back, Lannin will have to draw much better in Boston than the world champion Braves have been doing so far, it is reported.

Barney Oldfield, an Irish-American, will drive a car in the 500-mile

The Bilious Optimist.

When a man with noticeable bilious eyes and liver spots on the projection of his face "lays himself out" to talk optimism to us, something seems to whisper to us that he is bluffing himself (or us) for some little purpose of his own. Because when a bilious person talks optimism, his conversation suggests a supererogation of expository motivation, so to speak.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Success.

The Greeks had a foot race in which speed and endurance were not the only tests. Each man at the start was given a lighted torch, and the laurel wreath was for the one who came in first, "with his torch alight." Success in life is not merely reaching the goal, but more important still, in keeping the light of God burning in our hurrying souls.—Exchange.

PRAISE FOR BEER

Speaker at Meeting of American Society of Chemists Declare They Are Affinites.

FROM SAME PRODUCTS

Here are a chemist's definitions: MILK—Hydrolyzed Carbonaceous infusion, with or without flavoring substance.

BEER—Fermented carbonaceous infusion with or without flavoring substance.

Beer and milk have similar characteristics, are of nearly equal food value, and are produced in the same manner, according to Dr. Edward Gudeman in an address last evening before the Chicago Chapter of the American Society of Chemists.

"Beer and milk are affinites," said Dr. Gudeman. "Both are produced from similar raw materials. In one case the materials pass through a mechanically operated contrivance called a brewery. In the other the materials pass through a more animated contrivance owned and operated by a female animal."

"The changes due to metabolism in the brewery and in the digestive organs differ so little that an analysis of both beer and milk show the following: Water, 86 per cent; acidity, .2 per cent; ash, .3 per cent; difference, 14.5 per cent.
"We can make milk into beer, and in fact, there are products on the market now made in that way. Koumiss is milk with an alcoholic fermentation of 2.4 per cent."

SAYS IT HAS FOOD VALUE

"Has beer a food value? I don't think anyone will deny that it has a great food value, nearly equal to that of milk. It is a food, a condiment, a stimulant and sometimes a delicacy.
"Why do men drink beer? Some of them for the food value, ignoring the taste and the aroma. Others for the taste and aroma, ignoring the food value."

Dr. Gudeman advocated the setting of a standard for beer similar to that placed on milk. The standard, he said, would only determine the maximum amount of water to be placed in the brew. (Chicago Herald, March 11-1112)

Nothing so satisfying—nothing so nourishing. Healthful and invigorating.
Blatz is no ordinary beer. It is the most popular beer brewed.

You never heard of anyone switching to any other beer if it was possible to get "BLATZ"

That's the strongest argument in its favor.

Order a case so that you and your friends may enjoy it.

RIDES IN JITNEY AS MAN

Woman Runs Afoul of the Law and In Excuse Says Some Things.

Oakland, Cal.—"When I see so many sorry looking men standing around who ought to have on petticoats, and so many fine looking business women hampered by skirts, and who, figuratively, wear the pants, anyhow, I really can't see the harm."

Thus did Miss Doris Ingram excuse her ride in a jitney bus when, attired in man's clothes, she ran afoul of the law and landed in jail, only to be released at once when she explained the lark.

"They told me it was against the law to put on man's clothes, but I didn't know it then and I don't know it now," she says.

"Do you think clothes make the woman, then?" she was asked.

"I most certainly do, and can prove it."

"Take, for instance, a crowded street car in any city around five o'clock. Tired looking stenographers, bookkeepers and saleswomen, with business suits, perhaps a trifle awry, hair that has not seen the comb all day, get aboard. Most of the men who are seated suddenly become greatly interested in the scenery, but just let a beautifully dressed woman, perhaps going home from the matinee, a tea or reception, get on. See the men jump to their feet and tip their hats with an 'Allow me.'"

"You are judged what you are by what you have on in the passing."
